Department Mission

A Christian community dedicated to the study of literature, language, and cultures, we prepare students to use their talents to further God's kingdom.

English & Writing Major

As an English & Writing major at Bethel, you will join a vibrant community of literature lovers and be challenged by the lively conversations beautiful writing can prompt. You will be encouraged by your teachers and fellow classmates to maximize your potential as a writer. You will explore connections between writing and faith, literature and empathy, words and righteous action. You will produce a professional-quality portfolio of written work and help write, edit and publish The Crossings, Bethel's literary magazine. You will have opportunities to meet and interact with published authors and attend live theater performances. The English & Writing major is great preparation for future writers, editors, teachers, librarians, professors, lawyers, ministers, film-makers, advertisers, designers, entrepreneurs, and leaders of all types. Finally, at 36-credit hours, the English & Writing major is double-major friendly, and many of our students maximize their four years of college by completing a second major.

English Education Major

The English Education major is a great choice for the person who loves writing and literature and desires to impact young people through teaching English at the middle or high school level. Students pursuing this major take the same courses and meet the same objectives as English & Writing majors, plus they complete 28-30 credit hours of professional education courses that lead to an Indiana teacher licensure, including eight credit hours of student teaching. Graduates teach in public and private schools all over the United States and around the world, and are recognized locally and nationally for their excellence as teachers and leaders.

Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL)

The TESOL program at Bethel College enables students to acquire the theoretical and practical knowledge necessary to effectively teach English to speakers of other languages. The program is built from the ground up with the practicum in mind. Our students graduate with the skills and confidence they need to step right into the classroom. The TESOL major is also double-major friendly, working particularly well with intercultural studies, English & Writing, and Christian ministries. Course work includes the study of language and linguistics, grammar, theories of second language acquisition, as well as TESOL methods, all building up to the practicum, which requires students to teach a TESOL class by themselves. The TESOL practicum can be customized to match a student's post-graduate interests. Students may complete practicums locally and/or overseas in Vietnam and Lithuania.

The Committee on the Humanities

Faculty:

Robby Prenkert, D.Litt. (Chair)

David Schmidt, Ph.D.

Timothy Paul Erdel, Ph.D.

Department Mission

The Committee on the Humanities promotes Bethel's mission by nurturing a Christian community dedicated to the interdisciplinary study of history, literature, philosophy, language, and the arts.

Humanities Major

The 30-hour Humanities major requires 27 credit hours of study in literature, philosophy and other (s)electives in the humanities (history, language and fine arts) and a 3-hour capstone project (HUM 499). There are no specifically required courses, so Humanities majors tend to pick course topics that interest them. Students attempt to synthesize their learning during the year-long "Humanities Project" by producing a portfolio and final project. Recent projects have included novel length fiction, book length memoir, research essay and even film. To date, all students graduating with the Humanities major have completed a double major in four years. Common second majors have been Psychology, Biology, History, English & Writing, Philosophy and Liberal Studies. The vast majority of Bethel's majors can be paired with Humanities and completed in four years. Recent graduates teach in America and abroad, attend medical and graduate school, serve as missionaries, work in the publishing industry, and are leaders in their churches and communities. Add value to your undergraduate education by honing your reading, writing and thinking skills, by studying the great books, great ideas and entering the great conversation in our deeply committed Christian community.

Notes:

- The Bethel Core requirements of the first academic major will be observed. If the other major has abbreviated Bethel Core requirements, certain prerequisites may need to be fulfilled in order to complete the Humanities major .
- A student may appeal to the Committee on the Humanities to count up to 6 hours of (s)electives outside of the listed areas.
- If the student double majors in English, HIST would replace the core LIT requirements in the humanities major.
- If the student double majors in Philosophy, HIST would replace the core PHIL requirements in the humanities major.
- If the student's other major culminates in a degree other than a B.A. (B.S. or B.S.N.), the student will be granted two degrees rather than a B.A. with a double major.
